IS SOON TO DROP

That Indefinite Something to Settle the Sultan.

POWERS SAID TO HAVE AGREED

Cleveland Won't Recognize Cubans.

How the Campaign Is Heading—Ex-
Speaker Crisp Dead—Sugar
Legislation in France.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—All Europe is still waiting expectantly for something to happen in Constantinople. Dispatches in the past two days indicate that the Sultan is doing all he can to hasten his own fate. Nobody any longer pretends to understand his action, nor has the secret of the policy
decided upon by the great powers
been disclosed. It is still assumed by most persons that some policy has been decided upon, although there is
no definite authority for such assumption. It is believed by some that the State Department at Washington has been taken into the confidence of the other powers, and the news last week
regarding the passage of the Bancroft
through the Dardanelles was a premature disclosure of the international plans. The secret has been well guarded on this side of the water, and any unauthorized announcements may safely be set down as mendacious
guesses.

What chiefly concerns active Armenian sympathizers is the doubt whether the crisis will be forced by the Sultan himself or by a fresh demonstration by the Armenian Revolutionary Committee. Every effort is now being made to hold the latter individuals in check, at least for a few days
more. It is generally believed that the revolutionists are busily at work preparing a coup similar to the Ottoman Bank affair. Several conferences have been held in London this week between
leading moderates and revolutionists,
the only known result of which was
to demonstrate that the revolutionists
are impatient, reckless of consequences
and imbued with the belief that the powers have agreed with the Porte to let bygones be bygones and have decided to accept the Sultan's promises
of reforms as satisfactory proof of his intention to amend his ways.

The revolutionists want a good deal
more than this. They say that the attack upon the Ottoman Bank with the consequent massacre of several thousands of Armenians was not too dear a price to pay for bringing about a good understanding between England, Russia and France, and the sacrifice of a few more thousands of lives must be made, if necessary, to convert that understanding into action. The revolutionists are ready. It is estimated that they have within a few weeks received from rich Armenians of the moderate
party something like $250,000 and a like sum has been promised by European sympathizers.

ARMENIANS WITH BOMBS.

Uneasiness and Alarm spreading
Throughout Turkey.
CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 25.—It is reported that the police seized large numbers of bombs last evening. The arrests of Armenians continue here.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—The Standard's
Constantinople correspondent says
The purchase of arms during the week
has been most extensive, and a feeling of vague uneasiness and alarm is spreading rapidly. The palace hopes to distract the attention of the Moslems in Constantinople from its mis-
deeds by holding out a prospect of unlimited loot.

An Athens dispatch to the same paper says Reports from all parts of Turkey point to the complete dislo-cation of the administrative machinery
and an absence of all justice and public security. The envoys have sent a collective note to the Porte of the strongest character, in view of the critical situation.

WON'T ACT ALONE.

President Cleveland Not Disposed to Recognize Cuba.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—The Sun's Washington special says The repeated assertions that President Cleveland
contemplates in the next three months
recognition of belligerent rights to Cuba unless through some agreement
with the other Governments the independence of the island is accomplished,
are unquestionably the products of lively imaginations and have no more
foundation now than six months ago,
when they first began to appear.

The President's attitude against Cuba, as stated today by prominent officials, is the same that it has always been, and unless some decidedly unexpected and unforeseen situation is presented in the next few months, there
can be little hope that the administration will do anything more than attempt to prevent filibustering expedi-

tions from leaving the Southern States.
Of late unusual precautions have been taken to this end.

RUSSIA AND FRANCE.

Renewed Indications of Their Friendly Relations

ST PETERSBURG, Oct. 20.—The Grashdanin has been suspended for having published dispatches which its proprietor, Prince Meschersky, telegraphed from Paris at the time of the visit of the Czar and Czarina to the French capital, in which the Prince
attacked President Faure and the army
of France.

PARIS, Oct. 20.—Eclair says M. N.
de Giers, Councillor at the Russian Embassy of Paris, will succeed Baron
von Mohrenheim as Russian Embas-
sador to France on account of the latter's pronounced opposition to the recent visit of the Czar and Czarina to the French capital.

BERLIN, Oct. 20.—The Nord
Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung states it learns that the Emperor and Empress
of Germany will visit the Czar next summer.

FRENCH SUGAR INDUSTRY.

New Measure Submitted to the Cabinet.

PARIS, Oct. 25.—The draft of a bill
to regulate the sugar industry of France and to counteract the export bounties of other countries was submitted to the Cabinet at its meeting today. It adds a tax of 2½ francs to the duties on home consumption, and
the funds so derived will be applied to granting an export bounty of 2½ francs
for refined sugars and raw sugars, including 98 per cent, and an export bounty of 1½ francs for raw sugars
including 65 to 98 per cent. The bill protects the refiners at seaports and French colonial producers by a bounty
system and the allowing of a draw-
back on foreign sugars intended for re-export is maintained. It is proposed that the bill shall not be operative until September, 1898.

PRINCETON CELEBRATES.

One Hundred and Fifteenth Anniversary of the University.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 20.—The formal exercises inaugurating the
three days' celebration of the sesqui-
centennial of the College of New Jersey or Princeton, as it is popularly known, began today. Following the religious exercises, conducted by President Patton, a reception was given
this afternoon to the visiting delegations in Alexander Hall. The Rev.
Dr. Howard Duffield of New York city
delivered the address of welcome.

The response in behalf of American universities and learned societies was made by President Eliot of Harvard.
Professor John Thompson of the University of Cambridge followed President Eliot in a response on behalf of the European universities and societies.

GERMAN SUGAR RING.

Four Hundred Manufacturers Form a Trust.

BERLIN, Oct. 25.—It is reported that a sugar ring is in process of formation,
whose membership will consist of 400
German sugar manufacturers. This organization proposes to establish a
central point for the sale of the product of German sugar manufacturers,
and negotiations are in progress with
a view of connecting the organization
with the Austrian and Russian sugar
trusts.

The Freisinnige Zeitung, in an article announcing the proposed formation of this ring, says the scheme is a gross outrage, having for its object the exploitation of consumers in an attempt to cement an oppressive German sugar monopoly. The scheme, the Zeitung says, must be suppressed at all hazards.

MCKINLEY'S VOTE GROWING.

Result of a Second Canvass Made of
New York State.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—The Republican campaign managers in this State
who were agreeably surprised by the first canvass which they made of the State when an unusual plurality for
the Republican ticket was promised,
have about finished the second canvass.
Everywhere the first canvass was not only corroborated, but the McKinley
vote is estimated at 15 per cent higher than it was in the reports of the first canvass. The first canvass made the vote so big that the managers were afraid to disclose the total for fear of having their sanity questioned.

CZAR AND KAISER

Meeting of the Two Emperors at Wiesbaden.

WIESBADEN, Oct. 20.—The Czar,
Grand Duke Sergius and Grand Duke
of Hesse arrived here this afternoon
and were received at the railroad station by Emperor William, who wore a Russian uniform.

Their majesties drove to the castle
in a drag drawn by four horses. The route was lined with troops. The crowds accorded the Russian Emperor
an enthusiastic welcome. The Czar returned to Darmstadt this afternoon.

resentatives, died here this afternoon. He has been ill for several months.

CABLE OR WHAT?

Ex-Secretary John W. Foster is Here on Business.

NOT READY YET FOR PUBLIC EARS

He Will Not Visit Celest-
tial Friends.

Talks on Political Situation—Believes M'Kinley's Election Means Annexation of Hawaii.

If ex-Secretary of State for the United States John W. Foster does nothing else during the balance of his career, his name will be writ in his-

EX-SECRETARY OF STATE JOHN W. FOSTER, NOW VISITING IN HO-NOLULU.

tory as the first man to draw up a treaty of annexation between the United States and Hawaii.

Mr. Foster and wife were passengers
on the Peru to this port yesterday, and they are domiciled at the Hawaiian Hotel, having declined for several reasons, to be the guests of any private gentlemen who had extended invitations to them.

The distinguished visitor has served
the United States as an officer in the Northern army during the war, as a diplomatic representative to Mexico,
Russia and Spain, and as Secretary
of State in President Harrison's Cabinet after the death of James G. Blaine.
Two years ago he was selected by the Chinese Government to negotiate a treaty of peace with Japan, another
honor, which anyone but a man of Mr.
Foster's temperament would consider
almost too much for one mortal to bear
without having occasion to puff himself up.

Mr. Foster was seen by a reporter
for the Advertiser yesterday, and questioned regarding his mission to the Islands.

"I have no mission," promptly answered the ex-Secretary, "because I do not belong to the present administration, and I am quite sure the Government would not make me any proposition. I mean the Hawaiian Government. I merely wanted to come here and look over the country."

"And you will remain until the next steamer for China and Japan," was asked.

"I am not going to the Orient. I had all I wanted of that country when I was there two years ago."

"But the San Francisco papers state
that you are to visit China at the urgent request of the Chinese Government."

"I know, but the statement was not upon any authority from me. I was once in the newspaper business myself, but I tried, generally, to get such things authentic. When I was in the East last time I wanted to return home this way, but the steamers were not running so that we could arrange
the trip to suit us. This time the opportunity was ripe, and we came down
to remain until the steamer returns,
about three weeks hence."

"Then your visit has no political significance?"

"None whatever. As I have already stated, I am not in the Government at this time. The administration and I are friendly, of course, but I am not consulted by it in any matters. I believe the Government here was notified
of my intention to visit the Islands,
but not by me. I presume, some one
heard of it and wrote down."

"Have you anything to say regarding the cable question? Perhaps your visit has some connection with
that most important matter?"

"No sir. I do not think I care to say anything about it. I was asked to speak to Mr. Thurston on matters pertaining to Mr. Spaulding's scheme. Mr.

Thurston is here now, and we were just talking it over, when you came in."

"May I ask if, in your opinion, there is a possibility or probability of a line
being built from the United States to Hawaii in the near future?"

"On that subject," said Mr. Foster,
"my opinion would not be worth anything. What I know I gather from the newspaper reports."

"But are you not Mr. Spaulding's attorney in the United States?"

"I cannot say that I am. I have never seen him, though, of course, I know of him."

"As we know it here, Mr. Foster,
the plan proposed by Mr. Spaulding
failed for the reason that other persons proposed plans and Congress did not know which company to support."

"It was rather that other parties
presented themselves and partly convinced the committee that they could build a line better than Mr. Spaulding,
but the difficulty was that they had no
concession from the Hawaiian Government. Mr. Spaulding had, and your people know what his responsibility is."

"In the event of the United States
not granting a concession or in anyway favoring the cable scheme, what do you think would be the result of this Government entering into negotiations
with English capitalists for the construction of a line?"

"I would rather not venture an opin-

ination of Palmer will enable the Democrats who favor gold to maintain their records as Democrats, rather than to interfere in anyway with the chances of the Republican party. But the election in the United States can hardly
interest you people here."

"But it does, to a greater degree than you imagine. That's why I ask for your views. We are going to have an election ourselves tomorrow, and an expression of opinion from you may change the result materially in Hawaii."

"Then tell the people to get in and vote for McKinley. I have been in politics since the Fremont campaign,
but I do not remember at any time
when the people showed the same interest that they are showing now. It is more intense than in war times, and the whole country seems to be affected
by it."

"And you think, then, Mr. Levering
will have no chance for election?"

"Levering? Oh, no. Mr. Levering is a very able man, and I have no doubt
would be a good President, but the Prohibitionists will scarcely poll
enough votes to elect their man, and I believe, from what I know of Mr.
Levering, that he will be very well satisfied if McKinley is elected."

"Suppose, as has been stated, that Bryan receives a majority of votes cast
in States west of the Mississippi River
and south of the State of Ohio, do you think, then, that with Indiana he can be elected?"

"If I understand what you mean by
'south of Ohio,' I don't think he will get them. We expect to have Kentucky, Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland and Delaware, and without these States, his election is not possible. I am as sure we will carry Kentucky as I am of Indiana, consequently Mr. Mc-Kinley's election is practically assured."

Any one speaking with Mr. Foster
will conclude that he is at once a diplomat, but if he can get an opinion out
of him, unless it is on the election of McKinley, it will be when Mr. Foster
is napping.

If the interviewer will guess between the words as they fall trippingly
from the ex-Secretary's tongue he will make up his mind that Mr. Foster is here in the interest of the Spaulding
Cable Company. On the other hand,
the United States is on the eve of a change of administration, from one antagonistic to the Islands, to one that is favorable. Mr. Foster is a Republican,
died-in-the-wood, and a man known to be friendly to the Island Government.
This being the case, Mr. Foster may be one of many prominent citizens of the United States to visit the Islands for the purpose of "sizing" up affairs. To support this view is the fact that the distinguished gentleman has declined
the invitations of the public men here
to be their guest, preferring, rather, to stop at a hotel, where he can meet the people and be entirely independent.
Naturally, when he returns to the United States he will be asked a great many questions by a great many people, and if it was known that he was the guest of a member of the Cabinet
of Hawaii his opinion would carry very little weight. But this is only surmise. Mr. Foster may be here to view
the volcano or say whether, in his opinion, Hilo should have a new wharf.
He failed to tell the Advertiser reporter just which.

FIGHTING IN AFRICA

Natives Kept at Bay by a Portuguese
Force.

MOZAMBIQUE, Oct. 24.—Major Albuquerque, Governor-General with 300
Portuguese and 100 native troops, recently went to Manicaland. While in bivouac at Magela he was attacked
by 2,000 Manicarallos. The Portuguese made a gallant defense, and kept the natives at bay twenty-four hours, but were finally forced to retreat, owing to lack of water. Two Portuguese were killed and twenty-three wounded, including the Governor-General.

CHINESE BRITAIN.

England Demands Release of One of Its Oriental Citizens.

LONDON, Oct. 23.—The Marquis of Salisbury this morning demanded the immediate release of Sun Yat Sen, the Chinese physician, said to be a British subject who was according to the statement of his friends kidnapped
while passing the Chinese Legation
here and held a prisoner in the Legation on the charge of having been engaged in a conspiracy to overthrow the Manchou dynasty. It did not take the Chinese officials long to see that they must yield and the imprisoned
Chinese was released.

Disastrous Railroad Wreck

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 2.—Shortly before 10
o'clock this morning two passenger trains
on the St. Louis and San Francisco railroad going in opposite directions came
in collision nearly opposite Windsor station about thirteen miles from this city,
instantly killing eight persons and injuring twenty-one, all of whom will probably recover. The killed are all of St. Louis.

Germany and Russia Combine

that Bismarck was in office ending in March 1890. The article has produced a profound sensation in Vienna.

PORTUGUESE HAVE HANDSOME CHURCH.

Dedication Services Held Yesterday Afternoon.

SERMON BY REV. A. V. SOARES

Statement of the Treasurer—Address by W. A. Bowen—Funds Necessary for Paying for Church Raised Yesterday—One Boy Donated His Savings—Church Will Seat 600 People

Yesterday was the day set for the dedication of the new Portuguese Church, and a large crowd gathered to hear the addresses. The church is quite large, and the interior is arranged so that there may be four rooms, or by raising the partitions they may all be thrown into one, allowing a seating capacity of 600.

The services were impressive, and commanded the attention of everyone present. When the appeal was made for funds there were numerous liberal donations, one of $250 and another of $60 by a young son of W. A. Bowen. The amount raised through cash and pledged subscriptions was $1,536. This more than covers the amount stated in the Treasurer's report as being needed.

Religious work among the Portuguese had advanced steadily in Hawaii until to-day it shows beneficial results. It was not many years ago that the Mission started in an humble way, and to-day the Portuguese Church ranks among the largest denominations. Following is the order of exercises.

Respectfully submitted, A. F. COOKE

Treasurer Committee Portuguese Church Honolulu, Oct. 21, 1896

W. A. Bowen, who has been active in the affairs of the church since the beginning, spoke as follows:

"Although it is the regular custom in this Mission to take up a collection yet it is hoped that the collection at the time of this dedicatory service may be of unusual amount and character. It is naturally suggested by the unpaid bills, needs as just named by Mr. Cooke for the Building Committee, in turning over this new building for the use of the Portuguese Mission to Pastor Soares, Superintendent under the Hawaiian Board.

It must be remembered this movement was not for the building of a church alone but for the increasing of our opportunity for usefulness in secular instruction as well. Therefore, the need may be briefly stated as follows: To complete the payment of outstanding bills for the erection of this building will require $1,000 and to provide for insurance fencing and the changing of old church into the much needed school building and furnishing same with seats will take $3,000 more, thus making a present necessity of about $1,500 exclusive of a certain $2,500 mortgage obligation assumed with the purchase of land but which cannot by its terms be settled for ten months yet.

Please note Our new building is most admirably arranged for the steady and sure growth of the Mission. Fill this room and 240 persons may be seated, outgrow it only a little, and the overflow will be seated in the lecture room at the side, a growth beyond 300, and the side lecture room may be closed, and the main Sabbath-school room will be opened, when it is filled, the infant room, back, may come into use, then comes the gallery, and finally the side lecture room may again be opened until, in all, 600 or more may be easily accommodated. So it is seen there is ample room in which to grow.

"What does it represent? This work is one of the influences counting for intelligent Christian citizenship in these Islands. It uplifts. It purifies. It ennobles. And there is great encouragement to the workers in the bright, eager, pliable minds of the young who are so faithful in their attendance.

"This occasion happens on a day—no, not happens,—but is appointed by Divine guidance to take place on a day when the regular golden text for the day is 'Except the Lord Build the House, They Labor in Vain That Build It.' We count this a happy and auspicious omen, and at the same time fills all of us who are directly connected with the work with a feeling of deep and solemn responsibility. We desire above all things that God may be glorified here.

"And shall not this glorification begin to-day? Begin by taking up a special collection that shall redound to His glory by at least meeting our immediate needs. Only three days ago I was greatly impressed by the manner of giving of a friend. She spoke of her money intended for benevolence as God's money. 'He directs it all.' Now, we at this time give Him thanks for directing so much of His money, as He has, to the needs of this Mission, and we believe that He will provide for the balance required. Our inquiry to-day is, as we are about to take up this special collection, 'Have we any of God's money in our possession?' If so, shall we not allow its direction to the full relief of our further requirements? By so doing the people of this Mission and the workers can rise and go onward free happy, encouraged and giving to the glory. And joined with us in all our rejoicing are the angels in Heaven, even our beloved Mrs. Soares and 'Mother' Cooke, who desired our enlargement and longed for this day.

"In taking the collection, it may be some have not come provided with funds to make special contribution. To such we are prepared to offer blank cards, upon which they may write the words, 'I pledge,' and then name the amount as well as the date they desire to pay and sign their names. The cards may be dropped into the contribution boxes as they are passed, with the rest of the contributions, and the Treasurer will record and collect later. What will now be a help is to know upon what and how much we can depend.

"The collection will at once be counted by the Treasurer and collectors and the full amount reported before the close of the exercises.

"The need is certain, the work is of God and let His money be now consecrated and given."

In the dedicatory sermon Mr. Soares spoke in glowing terms of the fruitful efforts of the Portuguese and their friends in building such a beautiful church. He referred to the dedication of Solomon's temple, and then spoke of the beautiful building which they were dedicating to-day; at the same time he endeavored to impress upon the people that it would profit them very little unless they consecrated themselves to Christ and made their bodies a temple of the Living God and thus prove themselves grateful to Him for all he had done for them.

Results so far of the Postal Card Vote in the City of Chicago.

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 7.—The certificate of election commissioners of the Chicago Record's postal card election shows that at the close of the second day's count the vote in the city of Chicago was as follows:

	Bryan	McKinley	Palmer	ing
Ward 1	295	549	22	4
Ward 2	178	765	18	7
Ward 3	158	912	28	5
Ward 4	165	1,158	27	9
Ward 5	71	139	2	1
Ward 6	85	127	2	2
Ward 7	44	107	2	1
Ward 8	58	86	0	1
Ward 9	99	163	1	1
Ward 10	75	252	4	0
Ward 11	167	475	3	2
Ward 12	173	905	29	8
Ward 13	147	556	12	4
Ward 14	130	468	15	6
Ward 15	161	432	1	2
Ward 16	104	218	2	3
Totals	2,106	7,383	177	76

These figures do not include the possible total vote from any one or all these wards, for but a fraction of the ballots have been sent out to the voters yet even in these wards and but a small portion of those received have been counted.

The formal certificate for each day's vote adopted by the commissioners today declared that the ballots are burned under their supervision as soon as the day's count is completed, that they have been checked by the poll lists to prevent the possibility of repeating, and that no record exists of how many individuals voted.

HANG-UP AN ACCIDENT CARD

If poisoned, take mustard or salt, table-spoon.

In cup of water and swallow right soon. For burns try dry soda, and wet bandages, too.

If blistered, then oil and dry flannels will do.

In children's convulsions warm baths are the rule.

(With castor oil dose too) but keep the head cool.

Give syrup of ipecac when croup is in store.

For fainting stretch patient right out on the floor.

TO BRING ABOUT HONEST HORSE RACING.

The management of one of the New York race tracks has before it a proposition for the improvement of racing. It is nothing more or less than an elevated trolley road just inside the race track, and by this means the officers of the course are enabled to keep right along with the horses. This would do away with all dishonesty on the part of jockeys, as their every movement would be under the eye of the judges and others.

AYER'S ARGUMENT.

If there is any reason why you should use any sarsaparilla, there is every reason why you should use Ayer's. When you take sarsaparilla you take it to cure disease; you want to be cured as quickly as possible and as cheaply as possible. That is why you should use Ayer's: it cures quickly and cheaply—and it cures to stay. Many people write us: "I would sooner have one bottle of Ayer's Sarsaparilla than three of any other kind." A druggist writes that "one bottle of Ayer's will give more benefit than six of any other kind." If one bottle of Ayer's will do the work of three it must have the strength of three at the cost of one. There's the point in a nutshell. It pays every way to use

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

ANNUAL REPORT OF OAHU R. AND L. CO.

Fine Showing Made at the Annual Meeting.

GROWTH OF PASSENGER TRAFFIC

Extension of Line to Kahuku, Probable—Business Will Then Increase Four Times—Present Volume—Business Along the Line Increased by Development of Country.

The O. R. & L. Co.'s record for the past year in the matter of freight hauled and the number of passengers carried shows an increase over the previous year, a fact that must needs be pleasing to all those interested in the development of the Islands. Manager Dillingham was interviewed by a representative of this paper yesterday who gained some points that are worthy of more than passing notice.

The total freight hauled independent of all material for road or other construction work was 18,732 tons for 1891; 12,419 tons for 1892; 24,910 tons for 1893; 35,868 tons for 1894; 83,871 tons for 1895.

For the nine months ending September 30th, 1896, the amount hauled was 61,141 tons. Setting beside this 26,505 tons, the amount hauled up to the end of September 30th, 1895, there is found to be an increase of 24,336 tons, a remarkably good showing.

The freight hauled each year shows a steady increase of tonnage although the political and commercial condition of the country from 1891 to the beginning of 1896 has not been such as to encourage free investment of capital in any new industry.

Nevertheless the business along the line of the new railway has grown steadily showing an increase in the freight hauled this year of 92 per cent. over the business of last year.

There is every reason to believe the freight along the present line of road will double again inside of three years, and if the line should be extended in the near future to Kahuku as now proposed, the freight and passenger business will very soon thereafter equal four times its present volume. The total freight this year will exceed 60,000 tons.

The passenger statistics show the total number of passengers carried during nine months this year ending September 30th, to be 65,576.

The corresponding period of nine months in 1895 showed 55,439, an increase of 10,439 passengers during a term of nine months or an increase of over 1100 per month.

The total number of passengers for the year 1896 will not be far from 90,000, a number equal to nearly the total population of the whole country.

These statistics take account only of actual tickets bought at the office and fares paid on the cars.

The last six months of each year is the dull season for the railway; it may therefore be interesting to see what the freight consists of during the quiet season.

As accurate statistics of all freight hauled are kept at the office of the O. R. & L. Co., the reporter was able to secure a copy of the statement for last quarter, as given below.

The total amount of freight moved by the O. R. & L. Co. during the quarter ending September 30, 1896, was 14,326.71 tons, divided as follows:

	Tons.
Merchandise	561.27
Lumber	1,747.93
Building Material	153.97
Building Stone	1,944.00
Sand	399.10
Machinery	176.23
Coal	1,639.62
Sugar	952.22
Paddy and Rice	568.61
Fruit (green)	433.74
Pine Apples (canned)	55.14
Fish	30.96
Cattle	97.55
Feed	162.33
Cord Wood	321.63
Fertilizer Material	1,437.09
Fertilizer	3,179.45

KIDNEY DISEASE.

Statement of a Pawtucket Veteran—A Well-Known Man Whose Words Carry Weight.

From the Times, Pawtucket, R. I.

"I was born about 52 years ago," said George S. Pierce, than whom there is no better known nor more highly respected citizen in Pawtucket, R. I., and who resides with his brother, Henry A. Pierce, Esq., ex-Assistant Paymaster of the United States Senate, and have never dwelt elsewhere, except temporarily, and that was during the civil war, when I served in the First Rhode Island Cavalry and in the Eleventh Rhode Island Regiment. Some little time after the war I had the operation of lithotomy performed upon me at the Rhode Island Hospital and the operation was most successful. About nine or ten years ago I began to suffer somewhat from urinary troubles. I consulted physician after physician and resorted to kidney remedies and various patent medicines, each and all promising, as usual, a safe, sure and speedy cure. It was all, however, of little avail and my sufferings seemed to increase with the intermittent attacks. Repeatedly did I have to rest from active labor in my business, as a beltmaker and after retaining water for two and even three days at a time, the only relief seemed to finally come through the reactionary force of nature.

About nine or ten months ago, while suffering one of those painful attacks, I was advised by a fellow workman to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale people. He recited his own symptoms, so identical to mine, and of which he had been cured, and I, with some misgivings, I confess, procured a box of Pink Pills. To be candid, I had not finished the first box before I was greatly relieved and such a pleasing reality can best be appreciated by a patient sufferer. With the second and third boxes I continued to improve, until I was something like my former self. Of course, I keep a box of Pink Pills always at hand as a safeguard, but have to take only a few, say once a fortnight or three weeks, and then chiefly for the appetite. While leaving the public to judge as to whether wonders have been worked in my case, I must state that Pink Pills have done me the most good of any medicinal preparation that I have been able to obtain. Local druggists have sent to my door the agents of various patent remedies, of which I have used bottles upon bottles and boxes upon boxes, but I could not honestly or honorably say a word in their behalf. This testimonial, however, I give cheerfully and voluntarily." Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by Hollister Drug Co., Hobron Drug Co., wholesale agents for Hawaiian Islands, and all dealers in medicine.

EVILS OF OPIUM.

Changes That Have Taken Place in Chinese Empire.

Appeal to Authorities in United States Regarding Duties—Importation Should be Stopped.

Rev. Dr. Masters, superintendent of our work among the Chinese on this coast, has an article in the current number of the Chautauquan that should command the attention of the press of the country, and especially of our representatives at Washington. His theme is the opium traffic in California, and in graphic paragraphs he sets forth the extent of the indulgence in the use of the drug in this country, and the evil of its effects. He claims that opium smoking proves the ruin, physical and moral, not only of the Chinese, its principal victims, but of thousands of our own people, and shows the direct complicity of this government in the infamous traffic. For the sake of the revenue derived from the tax paid on its importation, we tempt to a suicidal indulgence. Our course in this particular is presented in striking contrast with that of other and less pretentious governments, as follows:

"Fifty years ago 22,000 chests of opium were confiscated from smuggling British ships at the mouth of the Canton River, worth $11,000,000; yet the Emperor, To K'wang, ordered it destroyed, preferring to sacrifice this valuable cargo rather than fill his depleted treasury with the proceeds of his people's ruin and shame.

"A few weeks ago the schooner Henrietta, from Victoria, B. C., was boarded by the Hawaiian Government and 1,400 pounds of opium extract, worth upwards of $20,000, was seized, taken several miles from shore, where the tins were chopped open and dumped into the sea. How the unselfish philanthropy of that heathen emperor and the uncompromising resistance to wrong on the part of that little Island Government rebuke the sordidness of this great and Christian nation that will legalize an infamous commerce for the sake of dollars stained with blood and infamy—yes, even with the blood of its own citizens!

"There is only one way to deal with the evil, and that is the plan suggested by the better class of Chinese in their petition to Congress many years ago: Remove that opium that is manufactured for smoking purposes from the tariff, prohibit its importation and sale under heavy penalties, empower the officers of internal revenue to destroy the cursed stuff wherever it is found, as contraband goods, and forever shut the treasury of this nation against a revenue derived from human misery, vice and shame. It can be done if the step is taken soon. But if we wait until the traffic has taken hold of American capital and enthralled our people in its chains it may be too late."—Pacific Christian Advocate.

The three-year-old boy of J. A. Johnson, of Lynn Center, Ill., is subject to attacks of croup. Mr. Johnson says he is satisfied that the timely use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, during a severe attack, saved his little boy's life. He is in the drug business, a member of the firm of Johnson Bros. of that place; and they handle a great many patent medicines for throat and lung diseases. He had all these to choose from, and skilled physicians ready to respond to his call, but selected this remedy for use in his own family at a time when his child's life was in danger, because he knew it to be superior to any other, and famous the country over for its cures of croup. Mr. Johnson says this is the best selling cough medicine they handle, and that it gives splendid satisfaction in all cases. Sold by all druggists and dealers. A PECULIAR LAKE.

An island in the North Sea is said to possess a lake which exhibits a singular phenomenon. The lake is situated close to the sea, with which it has probably some subterranean communication, at all events some depth beneath the surface the water is salt, and contains animals which can live only in sea water. But above a certain depth the water is quite fresh, and is inhabited by fresh water fishes. The fresh water will be supplied from surface sources, and being lighter than the sea water will continue to float above it.

GOOD RECORDS WERE MADE IN OCTOBER.

Sharpshooters Improving Through Frequent Range Practice.

CAPT. WALL EARNED PROMOTION

Said to be Best Record of the Year—Denver Team Will do Well to Win—Returns May be Received Today on Peru—Jack McVeigh Spotted a Possible Fifty in One Shot.

The International target shooting match has done more to spur up the members of the Sharpshooters' Company than anything since its organization. The practice the teams had in preparing for that event has had the effect of elevating the scores of the men considerably.

The following is taken from the official report to the Commander-in-Chief for the month of October, 1896. Great efforts have been made by the members of the company to secure the honor of a place on the first team, and the result is seen in the high average scores. The next event will be the annual match for the company dinner, which will be held on November 14, and every member will take part and earn his turkey.

Last Thursday there was an interesting 50-round match between Captain W. E. Wall, Lieutenant Cassidy and A. C. Wall, with the following result:

A. C. Wall 46 47 45 47 47—232
A. C. Wall 41 42 48 46 44—221
Lieutenant Cassidy 41 41 38 40 39—202

"Twenty points handicap. During the month of October Captain Wall has made four 48's, ten 47's, ten 46's and twelve 45's. He has therefore earned his promotion to the captaincy of the Sharpshooters.

Following is the monthly record:

In This Climate

where there is a great demand for the services of bugologists, upholstered furniture is not sought after to any great extent. Besides the trouble caused by the bugs, the natural high temperature is against anything that adds to the discomfort by making the body warmer. For Planters!

AVERY'S STUBBLE DIGGER

is the peer of all sugar land implements. Two mules can throw the stubble out loose enough to plant any crop and not interfere with the cultivation. Its features of absolute merit are:

1. Metal wheels with renewable hub boxes.
2. Solid steel teeth.
3. Great strength, with lightness of draught.
4. Improved flanges, with movable teeth.

We also handle Avery's Stubble Shaver. The planter will recognize the superiority of this shaver over all others at a glance. The knives can be raised or lowered, with ease, with ONE lever, without stopping the team. They can be regulated to shave at any depth and are protected by shields, so that it is impossible for the mules to be cut by them.

Avery's Improved Cone Cultivator.

And the above mentioned Shavers and Diggers are in use at the Onomea Sugar Co.'s plantation, the Wainaku plantation, where they have given great satisfaction; and testimonials to that effect are on file in our office.

Planters should order early so as not to be delayed in their work. We have a large stock on hand, and are now offering them at greatly reduced prices.

A WELCOME VISITOR.

It now appears that Hon. John W. Foster is in Hawaii on business of importance, and that he will not, as stated in dispatches from the Coast, simply make this a stopping place on the trip to the Orient. The people of these Islands have a particularly friendly interest in the ex-Secretary of State, since it was during his term of office that the treaty of annexation was formulated and placed before the United States Senate. As an annexationist there can be doubt of Mr. Foster's sentiments, and there is no reason to believe that he will undergo a change of feeling through a personal review of the situation. Having practically retired to private life, it is not altogether probable that he will do the open, active work in the cause of political union that otherwise might be expected. At the same time, his influence may prove a factor of no mean importance in the campaign, which should soon be opened from this end of the line.

Although it is impossible to obtain positive assertions, the rumor to the effect that Mr. Foster's immediate business here is in connection with the trans-Pacific cable construction, seems to be well founded. This, too, is a proposition in which the citizens of Hawaii are mightily interested, and if it is true that Mr. Foster comes in the interests of the New York company they have still greater reason to open their eyes to see what is going on. If the New York company, after practically defeating cable legislation in the last Congress, now desires to effect an amalgamation with the Spalding combination, it is somewhat strange that it should be deemed necessary to send to Hawaii to consummate the deal. On the other hand, if the desire is to still further block the pathway of favorable legislation by urging a move on the part of this Government that shall delay matters, the people of Hawaii will not think twice before refusing to listen to any and all propositions that might be made. The people here have had reason to believe that the New York company is a combination formed by the magnates controlling the Eastern cable systems, the business over whose lines would be materially lessened by a Pacific cable, since with cable construction to Honolulu the circling of the globe by extension to Japan and Australia must inevitably follow. If the program has been changed, if the Eastern companies begin to appreciate the trend of the inevitable, if John W. Foster comes to the country in the interests of cable construction—immediate construction—not destruction, every man, woman and child in Hawaii will be glad to hear it. As yet there is little definite concerning the present attitude of the company, and conclusions must, to a degree, be drawn from conjectures. We can, however, give assurance that Mr. Foster is a welcome and an honored visitor, and, furthermore, that our people are always eager to listen to and consider any proposition which indicates cable wires and not cable talk for this portion of the globe.

SLIGHT POLITICAL CHANGE.

The political news brought by the Peru, which is, by the way, the latest that will be received previous to the result of the election, continues to give encouragement to the sound-money forces of the United States. The struggle has now reached a point where enthusiasm, patriotism, blackguardism and all the rest of the isms that may be sandwiched into a political campaign are becoming concentrated, so that the victorious shout of the fortunate or the expiring gasp of the defeated ones may be healthy and good-natured. The intensity of feeling is not half realized by perusal of the newspaper reports, and it is only through the representations brought by those who have lately traveled across the continent that interested one here gain an adequate idea of how much in earnest are the people of both parties.

The activity of Bryan continues, and he is spending the last days of his campaign in the very heart of the doubtful section. His influence the Republican managers are attempting to offset by sending thousands to visit McKinley, and spending hundreds, if not thousands, of dollars in keeping such combinations as the "veteran generals" and the "dying squadron of governors" constantly on the move. If the Republicans are not fearful of the result they are certainly taking no chances. Should Bryan be elected he will have the satisfaction of knowing that there was not money enough in the whole United States to draw the will of the people away from the ignis fatuus which his party has presented.

The canvass of the New York Herald shows a strong electoral majority for McKinley, and the Herald has a reputation for careful and reasonably correct forecasts in its campaign work. While the politicians claim everything, the Herald, as a rule, has given conservative figures, and seldom strikes far from the mark. Betting continues to favor McKinley by healthy odds. Hardly a week has gone by in which some prominent Democrat has not forewarned his allegiance to the silver party. It must appear, then, that Bryan's only hope is in the great unknown quantity, the common people. The indications are decidedly against him. McKinley's election will be treated as a foregone conclusion. Success for Bryan will come as a surprise party.

ANNEXATION CAMPAIGN.

The presence of numerous Eastern Congressional leaders in the cities and towns of the Western coast ought to set the people of Hawaii to thinking and finally making some move to get some of these men to extend their travels to the Islands of the Pacific. It is now time for the annexation forces of this country to be getting together for active, forceful work; it is time to open our own campaign and go into it with an enthusiasm second only to the war of ballots that will take place in the United States on Tuesday. For the past two years annexation, while constantly to the front and constantly a matter of supreme interest in the minds of the people of this country, has not been "boomed" particularly, simply because there was absolutely no hope for its realization under the present American administration. The only thing for the people to do was to wait patiently until the American people had placed a new leader in the Presidential chair. All the enthusiasm and fervor which might be worked up on this side of the water could amount to nothing when the Executive of the United States was opposed to a closer union than exists at the present time.

The day the campaign in the United States closes the annexation campaign in this country should open. Whether McKinley or Bryan is the man chosen, whether the Republicans or Democrats are victorious in the Congressional and Senatorial contest, the plans for bringing the Hawaiian question forward as a live and important issue should begin to take shape, not alone with the Government, but among the business men, among the supporters of closer political union in every walk of life. We must not lose time in announcing to the American people that Hawaii is still at the door of the United States and her plea for admission to the union is no mean war cry hatched up for the occasion.

Already Hawaii has warm friends in Congress on both sides of the house; in fact, the division on Hawaiian annexation is not on party lines. At the same time, comparatively few of these men have been to the country to see it as it is. Our Congressional visitors have not been so numerous that the country would not profit by having a few more. If it is worth while for the Republican Campaign Committee to send such men as Boutelle, Reed and other prominent leaders to the Western coast, it is certainly a good political proposition for the annexationists of Hawaii to prevail upon such men as these to continue their journey to this country. It will cost money, but the individual who considers for a moment that annexation will be accomplished without the expenditure of good gold coin is wonderfully ignorant of the political life of the present generation. Every campaign, whatever its nature, calls for no stint of funds, and to a great extent the annexationists must carry on the "campaign of education." It is time for the annexationists to organize. Nothing can now be gained by waiting.

Purer Literature.

There is a curious morbid tendency in the books of the present day. We have healthy literature and we have very unhealthy literature. Sometimes we find intellectual giants falling into the sad of the day, dropping into the morbid instead of the healthy. This was the case when Hardy wrote "Jude, the Obscure." Hardy had written many books. His "Far from the Mad-ding Crowd" and his "Trumpet Major" were delightful idyls of country life. These were there drawn, by a master hand, with the completest command of the English language, as fine characters as should be put before a people for their betterment.

The other day came a book into the office styled "March Hares." It is a clever book. It is a book that so excellent a critic as the "Argonaut" of San Francisco, comments. With all due deference to that excellent publication it is the duty of this journal to object. It is not a question of prudishness. It is not a question of condemning anything that is thoroughly wrong. But it is a question of lowering the moral tone.

There are bad books, any man knows what they are. There are insidious books like the "Kreutzer Sonata," which should never go into the home of any decent family, and there are books like "Mademoiselle Giraud, Ma femme," which ought to be burned before they ever reached the public eye, but with all their evil there are other books which are far more noxious. They suggest evil, they excite passion, and they lead many who read them into paths they should not follow.

Yet they are clever. So are plays of a similar type. We all know what the end of Oscar Wilde's career was—a prison cell and life long disgrace. Yet he could write brilliant dialogue and sharp epigram.

In his play of "An Ideal Husband," one of the most morbid of the modern plays, one of the characters says: "No one should be judged entirely by his past." Yet how often we do so and damn a man or woman who having gone through the fire has learned the true lesson of human life. Take again such quotations as the following: "A cigarette is a perfect type of a perfect pleasure. It leaves you unsatisfied," or once more, "Morality is the attitude we adopt against people we don't like," and "Life is never poor," and lastly "A good woman is pitiless through her perfection."

Everyone of the quotations are excellent, but they are linked with so much that is bad and the whole tendency of the moral tour of the play is so bad that a wise community would condemn it.

The tendency of the modern esthetic novel and of the esthetic play is to evil. There are great writers at the present day, and there are great writers in the past. Let the present generation read and appreciate Scott, Thackeray, Dickens, Maryatt, Mrs. Gaskell, Mrs. Oliphant, Charles Kingsley and his brother Henry, who was only eclipsed by the greater renown of Charles. Let them take up the healthy works of such men of the present day as Kipling, Bret Harte, Stanley Weyman, Anthony Hope, Mark Twain, Professor Ebers, Maerhtens and Deudet. But also let them shun the vicious stuff which comes from a too prolific press. To read the works of great minds is a continual happiness. The brilliant thoughts of those who have had brilliant ideas, live forever in the human mind, and the humbler human mind is happy in its inheritance of great ideas and noble truths put into language that makes them household words. What literature should be is summed up in the words of Otway—"Purity and truth, Eternal joy and ever lasting love."

EDUCATION.

There is a danger with our present educational system that it may become too machine like. It is a danger which has been appreciated in the United States and has here and there been met. But there is no doubt that at the present time there is a feeling that the education given in the common and high schools is not as thorough as it should be. Education has taken the turn of the tide in modern ways and is being carried along at the flood. The trouble with the education of the present day is that it has not the thorough qualities of the past. It is too diffuse and too ephemeral.

In days gone by a well educated man would have been ashamed if he could not cap a quotation or make a brilliant turn by advancing another. Why was this so? Because in those days the teachers thoroughly drilled the knowledge into their pupils.

That we have good and excellent educational people there is no denial. That they are in earnest, there can be no denial, but there can and is a denial that they are thorough in their work. The results are the test of the work and the results of the modern school system are not satisfactory. A smattering of this science and of that, without any true knowledge of any, is not a satisfactory goal to have reached.

Machine education is bound to be a failure, or to produce such material as made up the pusillanimous set of men who would not fight for their homes in Constantinople when the Turk was thundering at the gate. They had machine education in Bysantium nearly a thousand years ago.

What is wanted in education is virility and broadness of spirit. When the mere platform of language is laid, then comes the true teaching. It is seldom obtained.

QUEEN COFFEE.

Sugar has by no means had its day, but it is assuredly certain that coffee is coming along to take her place alongside of King Sugar. The amount of capital invested in this industry is hardly realized by those who give no attention to the subject.

The great question with our coffee planters is whether they plant carefully. You can plant coffee, you can raise fine looking plants and when you reach your first crop you find that you have not an adequate or proper yield. The whole of this matter, like any other matter, is in a nutshell. If the men who plant coffee will take the trouble to be careful in this planting, if they will take pains in their clearing and when their land is cleared they will look out that, when their estate is holed, ample sunlight is given to counteract the natural sourness of new land, success is bound to come.

The coffee industry of these Islands only needs intelligence, a moderate capital and the usual energy and managing capacities of the Anglo-Saxon race to succeed. The best coffee in the world can be raised here, the far-famed Mocha notwithstanding, and the time is close at hand when the efforts of the pioneers at Olaa and Kona are going to be crowned with success and the coffee of the Hawaiian Islands take its place in the world's markets as a steady staple and not an exotic.

During the dedicatory exercises at the Portuguese Church on Sunday was witnessed an example of the liberality of the Honolulu public, the men and women who have money to give and are quietly placing it where the greatest good will be accomplished. In drawing up the final accounts it was found that there yet remained some $1,500 to be paid on the expenses of construction, etc. There was no heart-rending plea for aid, no overwrought enthusiasm displayed, but simply a statement that the church had yet some debts that must be liquidated. The result of the collection taken was highly satisfactory to say the least. Those present simply subscribed the money, thus lifting the entire debt from the church. And we venture the assertion that many of those who contributed to this last fund were among those whose names will be found among the subscribers of the first $10,000. What does this all show? In the first place, that the church people of Hawaii are generous; that their purses are always open to the extension of mission work. It shows that the mission work in Hawaii is still going on quite as effectively, quite as vigorously as in the early days when there was more of privation attending the labors for the advancement of Christianity. The Portuguese, as a colony, are to be congratulated in having secured such a beautiful house of worship, and it is to be hoped that what was started as a mission may soon be in a position, not only to maintain itself, but form the headquarters for other missions to be started in other portions of the Islands.

If there is ever anything pathetic in politics, the reception given Secretary Carlisle at Covington, Ky., will stand as one of the pathetic incidents. It was only a short time ago that John G. Carlisle could have had any political office the people of Kentucky could give. He was one of the idols of a united Democracy, and while he was not without hearty enemies, there were none who would stoop to offer an insult. After four years in Cleveland's Cabinet, Carlisle is politically dead; worse than dead. He has lost his prestige in his own State on account of what many believe to be a forced change of convictions and sacrifice of principle to hold a Cabinet position. The time was when Carlisle had good reason to aspire to the leadership of his party; today he would be lucky if elected to any position on the State ticket.

In summing up the American contributions to civilization President Eliot remarks upon the demonstration by the United States that people belonging to a great variety of races and nations, are, under favorable circumstances, fit for political freedom. In recounting the different nationalities, he refers only to Europeans. The United States has done not a little in proving how the racial forces may be amalgamated into a contented whole, but the time will soon be when Hawaii will come in for a share of the glory of racial amalgamation. In this country is slowly being worked out the problem, whether the Oriental races will assimilate in the customs and political life of the amalgamated European races. All signs point to the proof that this assimilation can be brought about successfully.

Reports of the big combination to antagonize the Sugar Trust are beginning to die out. Vice-President Havemeyer and his stockholders are resting easy at a liberal per cent, if the following statement, said to come from headquarters, is authentic: "Rumors of a combination against us do us the service of disabusing the public mind of the notion that we are a monopoly. There are 8,000 stockholders in our company, and even if it were a monopoly, it would not be so bad when it included so many persons. New refineries, if planned, cannot be built and operated in less than two years, and then it has not been in every case possible to operate them profitably."

The idea that the Sugar Trust is not a monopoly is a joke that would recommend Havemeyer to a position on London Punch.

"Who can take his place?" is the almost invariable query of the people when prominent men drop off in the midst of a successful career. Yet the world wages on, another man is brought to the front, and often it is not long before he rises above the standard of his predecessor. There is something wonderfully cold-blooded in this thought, but it is none the less true to life. When Du Maurier died, the loss to London Punch seemed for the time being irreparable. No man could replace the great artist and author. Possibly not in one sense. His exact counterpart could not be found, yet his death makes the way open for one Phil May, the finest worker in black and white in London. He is a comparatively young man, who worked his way up the ladder of fame and fortune by depicting the life of the gamins of the street. There is hardly a line of similarity in the work of Du Maurier and his successor, but it will not be many months before the world will be amused equally well by the new vim of pictorial humor.

Another scalp smokes before the wigwag fires of the Sharpshooters, and it is a trophy which every member of that organization may well contemplate with deserved pride. The defeat of the Denver Rifle Club was a hoped-for, but by no means an anticipated, demonstration of the superiority of Hawaii's marksmen. While the Denver team suffered from the absence of some of its best men, the Sharpshooters have also the excuse that some of the best men made the worst scores on the day of the contest. It was a good match fairly won, a fact acknowledged by both the contestants.

Today the American people elect their President and Congressional representatives. Whether McKinley or Bryan is declared President, the people of Hawaii can be sure that the next Chief Executive cannot be more unfriendly to the cause of annexation than the present incumbent has been.

It is said that the prices of silver and wheat always keep company, but during the latter part of this year, 1896, wheat at $1.50 has gone off on a decidedly apparent tangent. Possibly this is the exception that proves the rule, but none of the political orators have succeeded in proving it.

LOST OVERBOARD.

Sailor on Alden Bessie Fell From the Bow Sprit and Drowned.
At a quarter before nine last Sunday morning a sailor known as Miller walked out on the bowsprit of the Alden Bessie, which arrived yesterday and was evidently taken by a shark before he could be rescued. Besides the sailors the only person on deck was Mrs. de Medeiros and while she did not see the man fall she heard him call out for help and looking over the side saw the poor fellow struggling for help.

A life buoy was thrown to the man but he failed to reach it. In four minutes from the time he was discovered a boat was lowered but before it could be pulled to him he was seen to go down. Captain Porter searched his effects to get some information concerning him and it was found that he had discharge papers as Isaac Isachsen and Miller. As he was a Swede it is supposed that the former was his correct name.

WHARF AND WAVE.

The P. M. S. S. Peru, Friele command-er, arrived in port early yesterday morning after a pleasant trip from San Francisco, which port she left on the afternoon of October 28th. On Thursday, October 28th, a bark bound for San Francisco was sighted.

The following are the latest coast charters of vessels for ports on these Islands: Hawaiian bark Santiago, from San Francisco to Hilo with general merchandise; schooner Alice Cooke, now at Port Gamble, with lumber from that port to Honolulu, and the ship R. P. Cheney, now at Departure Bay, with coal from there to Honolulu.

The following vessels have arrived in San Francisco from ports on these Islands: October 21, Hawaiian bark Santiago, Johnson, 21 days from Hilo; brig Lurline, Denny, 10 days from Kahului. Carey, 6 days 18 hours from Honolulu. October 25, O. & O. S. S. Coptic, Sealy, 6 days 23 hours from Honolulu; British bark Ladas, Dixon, 16 days from Honolulu; schooner Muriel, Carlsen, 18 days from Honolulu.

The schooner Mary Dodge has on board the following cargo from San Francisco for Kahului: 11,496 lbs Middlings, 12,099 lbs Barley, 78,503 lbs Bran, 150 bbls Cement, 500 gals Oil, 60 cs and 39 bbls Salmon, 3721 lbs Sugar, 2100 lbs Lard, 42,510 lbs Rolled Barley, 45 cs Soap, 150 cs Butter, 25 cs Canned Goods, 29 colls Rope, 4 cs Boots and Shoes, 4030 lbs Bark, 50 cs Coal Oil, 800 lbs Codfish, 222 bales Hay, 10 bales Bags, 285 bbls Flour.

The P. M. S. S. City of Rio de Janeiro, Ward commander, arrived in port at about 9 a. m. Saturday, after a passage of 11 days, 15 hours and 25 minutes from Yokohama, which port she left on October 20th, at 12 m. The Rio was about two days late in leaving Hong Kong on account of rough weather. She met with the edges of a typhoon in the Formosa channel. The Rio brought 419 immigrants for this port, as follows: 306 Japanese and 113 Chinese. She resumed her trip to San Francisco at 5 p. m. on the date of her arrival.

Cures

Talk

"Cures talk" in favor of Hood's Sarsaparilla, as for no other medicine. Its great cures recorded in truthful, convincing language of grateful men and women, constitute its most effective advertising. Many of these cures are marvelous. They have won the confidence of the people; have given Hood's Sarsaparilla the largest sales in the world, and have made necessary for its manufacture the greatest laboratory on earth. Hood's Sarsaparilla is known by the cures it has made—cures of scrofula, salt rheum and eczema, cures of rheumatism, neuralgia and weak nerves, cures of dyspepsia, liver and kidney troubles, catarrh and malaria.

Such Cures as This Prove Merit.
"My little nephew was a plump and healthy baby until a year and a half old, then sores broke out behind his ears and spread rapidly over his head, hands and body. A physician said the trouble was scrofula humor in the blood. The child became one complete sore. We had to restrain his hands to keep him from scratching the sores. We were induced to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and in a short time he had more life. He improved rapidly, his skin became entirely clear of sores and he is now a healthy child." Sharpshooters Win Over Ben Kaluna Assaulted With a Shovel.

Take Defeat Gracefully—State That It Was Due to Absence of Members

The reports from the Denver Rifle Club, while satisfactory to the Sharpshooters' team, are very meagre as to detail. The letter given below shows that the boys from the Centennial State, while gracefully yielding the palm to far off Hawaii, are not satisfied that they cannot recover the honors lost on a second trial.

The absence of three good shots naturally made a difference in the score, and if those men had been at the range it is possible the result would have been different; at the same time it must not be forgotten that the local team lost by not having McVeigh at the butts. It should also be remembered that the local team used ordinary Springfield rifles with six-pound triggers and field sights, while their opponents used the regular match rifles, with hair triggers and globe sights. The advantages in this respect were in favor of the Denver team, so much so in fact, that they were willing to give the Sharpshooters a handicap, but which was declined. Another match with both teams shooting under equal conditions would be a better test of the supremacy of either. Following are the totals of each man taking part:

HEADQUARTERS OF THE DENVER RIFLE CLUB.

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 26, 1896.

Frank S. Dodge, Esq.
Dear Sir—Your dispatch to Mr. J. N. Lower was handed me today. I find your team has defeated us by the close margin of eight points, therefore did not think it necessary to forward you the targets, but will do so should you wish them.

Your representative, Mr. F. H. Boardman, accompanied us to the range and scored each shot as fired. He informed me that he would forward the scores to you at once, hence the reason you do not receive them through my hands as secretary of the Denver Rifle Club.

This is the first time, to my knowledge, that the D. R. C. has been defeated, but I do not suppose it will be the last. The only excuse I can offer is that three of our best shots were absent on the day of our match, namely, Colonel Denison, J. A. Ricker and J. N. Lower, the man who has been corresponding with Mr. W. H. Bell. The absence of these men was a loss to us of at least twenty-five points. However, we take our defeat with good grace, hoping to have the opportunity of trying our skill against you at some future date.

I remain, very truly yours,
H. A. WILLIS,
Secretary and Treasurer D. R. C.

Opera House Opening

It being found impossible to get everything in readiness for a successful opening of the new Opera House by Tuesday, Nov. 3d, the following postponements and changes have been made:

"Il Trovatore," Saturday, Nov. 7th.
"Jane," Tuesday, Nov. 10th.
"Il Trovatore," Thursday, Nov. 12th.

The concert, as advertised, will not be given during the present festival, but it is intimated that should there be a dearth of amusements after the Frawley troupe have concluded their season, that the amateur talent will again favor the Honolulu public with some of their selections.

SOME People do not care for Breakfast Must—but those whose faces bear the blush of health are the ones who eat it. We have just added to our stock a large assortment from the Del Monte mills. It includes "Morning Meal" (wheat) Cream Flake oats, and breakfast oats. We have also whole wheat flour in 10 lb. bags, and breakfast cereals these and so is a lot of smoked Halibut or Salmon of the sort we sell.

Fresh Cranberries go well as a sauce for turkey, we sell them.

For lunch dainties we have a thousand and one articles, but there is nothing better than Royan's a la Bordenaise, a little sardine packed with tomato sauce, and chopped mushrooms. For luncheon these are excellent. Lemarchand's Genuine Sardines are the best obtainable in France. We have less expensive ones that are caught anywhere.

IN THE SUPREME COURT OF THE HAWAIIAN ISLANDS.

CLIO KALEIOPU v. ELIZABETH BOOTH and CHARLES W. BOOTH, Her Husband.

APPEAL FROM THE COMMISSIONER OF PRIVATE WAYS AND WATER RIGHTS FOR THE DISTRICT OF HONOLULU.

SUBMITTED JULY 3, 1896. DECIDED OCTOBER 19, 1896.

JUDD, C.J., FREAR AND WHITING, JJ.

The Commissioner allowed the plaintiff all the water in a ditch over defendant's land for two hours each day. There being no evidence on which to base the decision as to the extent of the right, and not a clear preponderance of evidence as to the existence of the right, the decision is reversed and the case remitted to the Commissioner for further evidence and decision.

OPINION OF THE COURT, BY FREAR, J.

The plaintiff and the principal defendant, Elizabeth Booth, are the owners respectively of certain lands situated between the Manoa and Palolo streams at Waikiki-waena, in Honolulu. These lands adjoin each other, the defendant's being above the plaintiff's. The question in controversy is whether the plaintiff's land is entitled to water from the Manoa stream through a ditch over the defendant's land.

There is a spring, called Kalaepohaku, near the boundary line between these lands, from which there was formerly a considerable flow of water, but which (and this is also the case with the Kanewai spring higher up whose water formerly flowed into the ditch above mentioned) has been nearly dry for some years, in consequence, probably, of the sinking of artesian wells near by. From the testimony of the witnesses as a whole and from the lay of the land and the location of the spring, there can be little doubt that the greater portion of the plaintiff's land, probably all but the few higher taro patches nearest the Manoa stream and adjoining the defendant's land, depended upon this spring for water. The question is, therefore, practically whether the remainder of the land, these few patches, also depended upon the Kalaepohaku spring or was entitled to water from the Manoa stream.

The lay of the land would seem to indicate that these patches would naturally have obtained their water from the Manoa stream, and yet it appears by measurement that they could have been irrigated by the Kalaepohaku water. The testimony of the witnesses for the plaintiff is to the effect that her land was always entitled to some water through this ditch, without however specifying the amount, either by quantity or by time; also that this water flowed to her land from the defendant's through a regular channel, and that her land depended only in part upon the Kalaepohaku spring. On the other hand, the testimony of the witnesses for the defendant is to the effect that the water in the ditch from the Manoa stream and Kanewai spring belonged to her land and the Kanewai land alone, and these two lands alternated in the use of the water, each taking the entire water for a day and a night at a time, and that, although some of the water has in the past flowed on to the plaintiff's land, this was only occasionally, when there was a superabundance of water, the overflow of which would naturally flow down hill to plaintiff's land, that this overflow was from patch to patch and not through any well defined channel, and was merely a surplus due to heavy rains and not a proportion belonging to or taken by the plaintiff as of right; also that there is now less water in the ditch than there formerly was, owing to lessened rainfall and the drying of the Kanewai spring, in consequence of which she has been obliged to contract the cultivation of her own land; and she contends that the plaintiff's lack of water is not due to her (defendant's) taking more or a larger proportion of water than she is entitled to, but is due solely to the diminished supply of water—from which she and others dependent on the Manoa and Kanewai water have to suffer as well as the plaintiff who is dependent on the Kalaepohaku water.

The Commissioner found that the plaintiff's land was entitled in part (presumably to the extent of the few patches above mentioned) to water from the Manoa stream and awarded to her all the water in the ditch for two hours each day, namely, from 4 to 6 o'clock, a. m.

Whether the plaintiff is entitled to any water from the Manoa stream, is not very clear. If this were the only question open on the appeal, the decision of the Commissioner should be allowed to stand, for there is not a very clear preponderance of evidence either way, and she had advantages not possessed by the appellate court in that she saw and heard the witnesses. But there is clearly no evidence on which to base the finding as to the amount of water to which the plaintiff is entitled, if any, and the decision should at least be reversed on this point and the case be remitted to the Commissioner for further evidence. Under these circumstances, and since such further evidence as may be introduced on the question of the extent of the right, if any, may throw further light upon the question of the existence of the right also, we think it more just that the decision of the Commissioner be reversed in toto and that the case be remitted to her for further evidence and decision, and it is so ordered.

J. M. Kanakua for plaintiff.
W. R. Castle for defendant.

THE LATEST CYCLING FAD.

To be up to the mark a bicyclist should convert his machine into an Indian harp by stringing rubber bands across the frame. The wind striking these bands gives out musical sounds which can be heard for quite a distance, and are quite pleasing to the ear. This is the latest fad.

BRONCHITIS

Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne. Vice-Chancellor SIR W. PAGE WOOD stated publicly in court that Dr. J. COLLIS BROWNE was undoubtedly the INVENTOR OF CHLORODYNE, that the whole story of the defendant Freeman was deliberately untrue, and he regretted to say it had been sworn to. See The Times, July 13, 1864.

Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne is a liquid medicine which assuages PAIN of EVERY KIND, affords a calm, refreshing sleep WITHOUT HEADACHE, and INVIGORATES the nervous system when exhausted. Is the Great Specific for Cholera, Dysentery, Diarrhoea.

The General Board of Health, London report that it ACTS as a CHARM, one dose generally sufficient.

Dr. Gibbon, Army Medical Staff, Calcutta, states: "Two doses completely cured me of diarrhoea."

Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne is the TRUE PALLIATIVE in Neuralgia, Gout, Cancer, Toothache, Rheumatism.

Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne Rapidly cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Spasms, Colic, Palpitation, Hysteria.

1709

OVER THE TEA CUPS.

In planning a house for this climate my first concern would be to provide for a spacious lanai, as large as land (or sea) permits. Then I would consider the cook-house and the library and on that foundation I'd build the rooms and etceteras that make up the complete house.

The lanai first, you observe. Yes, the lanai is peculiar to Hawaii, although its partial equivalent is seen elsewhere. Nowhere, I believe, is there a more delightful home custom than that of the large open, family living-room—shut in chiefly by a roof, sweetened by the sunshine, swept by the mountain breezes, and susceptible to every change of earth and sky. It is next to living out of doors, and if your lanai is in the mountains or by the sea, you feel very near to the heart of Nature.

As for the furnishings, books and newspapers and sewing lie on tables at one end, the children's picture books and toys are near by, the hammock is just beyond the tea-corner, and at the other end the large table makes a dining-room which has for its frescoes living pictures of dewy morning or the vivid pageant of sunset. The lanai, then, is the heart of the house and throbs with life and sociability, exerting a subtle, hospitable influence on all within its magnetic field.

Under all its charms your lanai hides a certain menace, unless you provide it with a redoubt of smaller rooms that may be shut away from the lanai and afford quiet for anyone in quest of it. Times of being alone are absolutely essential to any soul-growth. We must face ourselves to know ourselves, and we must work out for ourselves our own salvation, intellectual no less than spiritual. Large-hearted hospitality is a beautiful ideal, but its delight is only enhanced by frequent solitary hours when our own natures prevail.

We who dwell in Hawaii flatter ourselves that we are a peculiar community, and yet I fear we are not all providing against the danger of being commonly peculiar. We are isolated by our coral reefs and lava beds, yet we are united, many of us, by the same aims and interests. We know each other pretty thoroughly, and all unconsciously we are merging our respective individualities into one intellectual Nirvana. This aggregate mind may easily be labelled "Island" and would undoubtedly be interesting and agreeable to our friends from over the sea, but what of the units?

"The world is too much with us" runs the sonnet, but it was Emerson who first impressed me with the value of solitude, as an antidote for too much familiar talk. We descend to meet the claims, no matter how charming our companion may be,—our highest thoughts are reserved for our own inmost hearts, and we are strong and helpful only as we give ourselves sufficient time to heed the promptings of Nature around us and within. Hamerton, too, has much to say about solitude. "Only in solitude do we learn our inmost nature and its needs." Only in solitude can originality of mind be preserved. Only in times of solitude can we become men of all ages, and enter into the souls of men who have thought. Let me give you De Quincey's idea: "No man will unfold the capacities of his own intellect who does not at least checker his life with solitude." My own thought is that society may be the market where we get our seeds of thought, but solitude is surely the soil for the garden where they grow best.

I am not advocating a hermitage by any means. Man is a social animal, especially woman. Lonely living is almost synonymous with eccentricity, warped and morbid. We need the world,—it rubs off our sharp angles, but we do not want to be rubbed all around evenly till we all are only smooth pebbles. Much of the world's best society, balanced by being alone, develops the best in us,—ourselves. Let us respect our own preferences and tastes as we do those of our friends, and with our "causes," our social demands and our family life, let us not stunt our own souls, or yield them up to the influence of everybody without making them everybody-proof in some measure.

Build your lanai, then, broad and high, but build the cosy library, too, the tiny telephone room and the sewing room. Best of all, make a bed-room for everyone in your family, a room that may be a haven of peace to its occupant. With such a house there need never be family jars, and the lanai will be the beautiful setting of many a happy group.

Now for the family and our guests on the lanai!

Among the passengers on the Australia on Monday last were Mrs. B. C. Crane and daughter Catherine McAlpine Crane. Shortly after the arrival of the steamer Miss Crane and Wallace R. Farrington, editor of the P. C. Advertiser were quietly married by the Rev. Alexander Mackintosh in the presence of Mrs. S. C. Crane, Mrs. Henry Castle, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Brown, Miss Carrie Snow and James Campbell. There were no cards.

HOW TO CURE BILIOUS COLIC.

I suffered for weeks with colic and pains in my stomach caused by biliousness and had to take medicine all the while until I used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy which cured me. I have since recommended it to a good many people. Mrs. F. Butler, Fairhaven, Conn. Persons who are subject to bilious colic can ward off the attack by taking this remedy as soon as the first symptoms appear. Sold by all druggists and dealers. REGIMENTAL HOP A GREAT SUCCESS.

The Floor Crowded With Elite of Honolulu.

LIGHT REFRESHMENTS PLENTY.

Ladies Beautifully Costumed—The Floor Well Managed and the Music Elegant—Talk of Having Military Hops More Frequent. Officers Consider it Will be Beneficial.

Never in the history of the National Guard of Hawaii has there been given such a successful military hop as the one that took place in the drill shed last night. True various companies have arranged for events of the kind at different times but last night's hop was the result of the concerted efforts of each and every company of the N. G. H.

From morning until night for two or three days past men from the different companies were kept busy decorating the hall with flags of various nations and pennants of different shapes and colors. To this array they added just the right quantity of greens to soften the effect and render the whole scene pleasant for the guests to look upon.

From the center of the hall and running out to the four corners were strings of Japanese lanterns and it was about these that the pennants and small flags were hung so gracefully.

All about the sides of the hall and in front of the company rooms were the large flags of different nations draped here and there to produce a pretty effect while in front of the entrance were arranged as a screen, large American and Hawaiian flags.

Perhaps the most beautiful spot in the whole hall was the stage arranged for the accommodation of Prof. Berger's orchestra which discoursed delightful music for the dancers to take advantage of.

This place was likewise draped about with flags but what rendered it so noticeable as being separate and apart from the rest was the profusion of growing palms of various sizes among which the orchestra sat.

As upon previous occasions the company rooms were thrown open for the accommodation of the guests.

Long before the dancing began the hall was crowded with the members and friends of the various companies of the N. G. H., numbering some three hundred in all. Among those present were President Dole, Attorney-General W. O. Smith, officers of the N. G. H., officers of the U. S. S. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Paris, Mr. and Mrs. Du Roi, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Harris, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. MacStocker, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Williams, Captain and Mrs. Lorenzen, Mrs. Hutchinson, Mrs. Elizabeth Parker, Mrs. Boardman, Mrs. Warner, Misses Williams, Afong (3), Smithies, Perry, Messrs. W. Porter Boyd, Marks, Dowsett, Dekum, Hapai, Rob Scott, Tom Wall, Arthur Wall, G. K. Wilder, J. Cassidy, M. D. Monsarrat, J. M. Monsarrat, T. P. Cummins, C. H. W. Norton, Geo. Angus, and Dr. W. T. Monsarrat.

The first and second parts of the dance program were composed of nine dances each with two or three extras apiece. During the intermission between the two parts came the refreshments served in one of the back rooms and distributed throughout the hall by the various gentlemen. The credit of the excellent supper is due Caterer Chapman who saw that nothing in his line was wanting.

The second part was completed shortly before 1 o'clock and then the merry throng, sorry to leave the scene of so much enjoyment, betook themselves to their respective homes feeling that the N. G. H. had afforded them a right royal time in truth.

Following is a list of the committees who carried to such a successful point the hop of last night:

Committee of Arrangements. — (red badge), Capt. C. W. Ziegler, chairman, Capt. Camara, Capt. Smith, Capt. Kea, Capt. Murray, Capt. McCarthy, Capt. Coyne, Lieut. Jacobsen.

Reception Committee — (blue badge), Col. McLean, chairman, Lieut. Col. Fisher, Maj. McLeod, Maj. Jones, Maj. Cooper, Capt. Gartenberg, Capt. Schaefer, Capt. Meyers, Capt. Wayson, Lieut. Towse.

Floor Manager—Lieut. Kenake. Floor Committee—(white badge), Lieut. Fetter, Lieut. Giles, Sergt. Maj. Forster, Chief Musician King, Sergt. H. Wilder, Musician Smithies.

The central thought of the evening seemed well summed up in the lines which were printed on a part of the dance program:

"Let the night be filled with joy,
And the cares that infest the day
Fold their tents like Arabs,
And as silently steal away."

SCHEME THAT FAILED.

Effort to Negotiate for Landing Opium at Honolulu.

Among the passengers on the Australia was a man who has devoted the past ten years to engineering schemes for the landing of opium on these shores and he has been successful in the highest degree. While here he made the statement that there was no difficulty in getting opium to Hawaii once it was clear of Victoria and it did not have to be landed in Honolulu.

The unprotected coast line offered inducements to the dealer in contraband goods because there was no difficulty in getting it ashore at night.

The cooperation of one white man is all that is necessary to make the thing a success. He stated, however, that since the capture of the Henretta and imprisonment of the captain and crew of the schooner it was impossible to get a captain to take a charter now for contraband goods. Oplum Brown has been negotiating for two months past, but up to the time this man left Seattle he had not been successful.

This fact had made the Victoria and Sound rings uneasy and for that reason the man on the Australia came down to see if arrangements could not be made for shipping the stuff in the regular way. When he found that it could not be done with any degree of safety he returned to San Francisco on the Australia.

While here he was overheard to remark that there never used to be any difficulty; the plan was to press into service one of the Customs guards who worked on commission with the ring and in conjunction with one of the officers on the vessel. If there were thirty packages for a consignee and all went on one day there was no trouble to add two or three more, addressed to prominent men or firms, the more prominent the person the less danger of suspicion. Once the stuff was on the way the work of the driver began and he dropped the cases of dope off at headquarters or wherever he was told to leave it. Sometimes, by way of a shield, the stuff was run into the appraiser's office and sent out from there without examination.

But since Hoshina and Fishel are out of the service and so many changes have been made among the guards it is impossible to form the combination.

He added further that the only salvation for the man who wanted to land opium in large quantities was to negotiate with the sealers who will shortly leave for the sealing grounds and indemnify the owners against loss. A captain who is at all clever can run his vessel close to the islands at night, land his stuff and get out before daylight.

Art Exhibition.

The Pacific Hardware Company announce in the advertising columns the opening of the exhibition of paintings by Hugo Fisher, the best of all Western artists, and probably the best water-color painter in the United States. The collection shown to-day embraces a number of Hawaiian views, some of which have not been painted before. In others, which have been sketched and painted by other artists, Mr. Fisher has introduced his own peculiar style of handling the brush and harmony of color, which adds new zest to them. The exhibition will continue through the week.

Honolulu, H. I. Jan. 1, 1894

A Model Plant is not complete without Electric Power, thus dispensing with small engines.

Why not generate your power from one CENTRAL Station? One generator can furnish power to your Pump, Centrifugals, Elevators, Plows, Railways and Hoists; also furnish light and power for a radius of from 15 to 20 miles.

Electric power being used saves the labor of hauling coal in your field, also water, and does away with high-priced engineers, and only have one engine to look after in your mill.

Where water power is available it costs nothing to generate Electric Power.

THE HAWAIIAN ELECTRIC COMPANY is now ready to furnish Electric Plants and Generators of all descriptions at short notice, and also has on hand a large stock of Wire, Chandeliers and Electrical Goods.

All orders will be given prompt attention, and estimates furnished for Lighting and Power Plants; also attention is given to House and Marine Wiring.

But for realistic effect and reproduction of Japan's crowning glory the guest must visit the lawn at the rear of the house, where dignity snow-capped Fuji glimmers up at all its majestic grandeur. This is another instance where the imagination is necessary to make a few feet that the painted canvas is something else. But it conveys the idea quite well.

In imitation, is everything outside the Consul's office has been filled with plants traded by the collector of Mr. Yen Shien Chih, and a number of very interesting birds are found about it. Mr. Iwamatsu is the only one of the Horanai who understands English, and he was seen to ask me to go down to see him. He showed himself. The collection of plants is very good, and will be used by the gardeners as they clear the grounds.
